MINCES' UNDERSELLING STORE TO BE OPENED HERE SOON

This City is Chosen as the Fifth Link In Big Chain of Stores Whose Object Is To Sell It For Less Money.

The new Minces Under Selling Store will open soon at 49 West Second street, with two freshly remodeled floors devoted to the selling of ladies and misses' dresses, suits, wraps, coats, millinery, furnishings and shoes. Also men's and boys' suits, pants, hats, caps, furnishings and shoes; complete lines of children's wear, dry goods and notions are likewise represented.

The Minces Under Selling Stores are known up and down the Ohio River as aggressive, progressive stores whose tremendous outlets enable them to "undersell" and consequently "undersell". There are no others just like them though they have been imitated and copied time after time. Other Minces stores are located in Ironon, Chillicothe and Marietta, Ohio, and in Ashland, Ky., with a wholesale distributing house in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Wherever Minces Under Selling Stores have been established profiters have lost caste, competition has worked harder and retail business tones up to a very high pitch of efficiency. It is well to remember that all under selling stores are not Minces stores. This firm's policy is aptly expressed in its slogan: "More for your money or your money back," and only merchandise of high character is sold and which is fully guaranteed for complete satisfaction or your purchase money will be cheerfully refunded. The opening announcements will appear in the Ledger this week.

We cordially invite you to attend our Spring Opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 23, 24 and 25. 21-22 CLIFT-CARR SHOP.

MANY SEE PASTIME'S BIG FEATURE PICTURE.

There was a great crowd at the Pastime Theater Monday evening to witness the first public production of the big Mark Twain feature "A Connecticut Yankee" and those attending enjoyed two hours of hearty laughs and witnessed some wonderful settings. The picture will be shown again Tuesday and Wednesday and scores should see it. It is the most stupendously staged comedy ever produced.

REFUSED TO MARRY MOTHER'S CHOICE, GIRL DRIVEN AWAY

Telling a Most Deplorable Story of Mistreatment by Her Mother, Girl Appeals to Police to Get Clothing.

Florence Daugherty, seventeen-year-old girl, employed in a local factory, told local police a deplorable story of mistreatment by her own mother Tuesday in an appeal to the police to secure her clothing which was being held by a former landlady to secure the payment of a board bill.

The girl said that she was deserted several months ago by her mother when they lived in the city of Buffalo, N. Y., and that about last November she received a letter from her mother, who was living in Maysville, informing her that the mother was ill and appealing to her to come to Maysville and nurse her mother. She came here in November and cared for her mother who then lived in Carmel street. Both mother and daughter, as soon as the mother had recovered, secured employment in local tobacco stemmery.

The young lady says that a few months ago the mother insisted that the girl marry a certain young man who lives here and that she refused because she did not love the young man. The mother became furious at her continued refusal to marry the man selected, according to the girl, and drove her from the home. The girl boarded with a woman in the East End but soon became indebted to the landlady and was compelled to leave her boarding house and seek another. All the clothing she possessed, besides work clothes, were held by the landlady. She says to secure the board bill. She borrowed clothes from a girl friend but that girl friend Monday decided to move from Maysville and wanted her clothing. This caused Miss Daugherty to seek the aid of the police. Payment of the debt was guaranteed by the landlady and the clothing was returned to the girl.

The girl says her mother left Maysville several weeks ago and she does not now know where the mother is located.

In doing business with a bank the customer not only likes polite attention, but also wants the greatest protection he can get. The Bank of Maysville fills the bill in both of these respects. Its officers and employees are accommodating, attentive and polite, while its capital, surplus and assets are the largest of any bank in this section of the country. 21Mar-1f

ALLEGED INSANE MAN SETS JAIL BED AFIRE.

Thomas Grigsby, of the East End, was taken in charge by the local police Monday evening on a writ issued in County Court for an inquest into his sanity, and lodged in the county jail. Grigsby had considerable trouble with prisoners in the jail and in a fight blackened one of the prisoner's eyes. On Tuesday morning Grigsby was placed in a cell and jail attendants shortly afterward discovered smoke coming from the cell. Investigating, they found that Grigsby had set the mattress in the cell afire. It was extinguished before the fire had done much damage.

TIME EXTENDED FOR COUNTY SUPERVISORS BY STATE BOARD

Special Order Made By State Tax Commission Giving Local Supervisors Six Additional Days.

Learning that they would not be enabled to complete their big task of equalizing the tax assessment of Mason county and bringing the assessment up to the figures demanded by the State Tax Commission, the local board of County Tax Supervisors so advised the State Commission.

The State Commission has advised County Judge Purnell of the condition and has ordered him to extend the time, accordingly Judge Purnell Tuesday made an order extending the time allowed the Mason County Board to six days additional.

The county board spent practically all of last week in equalizing the assessment in the city of Maysville and they would have been unable to complete the county equalization without this additional time grant.

It is expected that the board will have considerable work on their hands when they get ready to hear complaints on increases. Notice will be sent out as soon as the entire county assessment is equalized.

AMERICAN RIGHTS VINDICATED.

Important by reason of the great material and political interests affected, this matter of the famous island of Yap has been one of the most celebrated of the issues arising from the settlements of the war, because it involved vital principles of natural and international right. Furthermore, in its successful outcome the controversy has provided one of the most creditable chapters in the annals of American diplomacy. In consummating the agreement with Japan, Secretary Hughes accomplished against odds a noteworthy achievement of statesmanship.

No impartial scrutiny of the record could fail to show that the American claims in respect to Yap were legally and morally invulnerable. This nation sought no exclusive right, but only the equal rights to which it was entitled as one of the five Powers to which Germany surrendered the island. American rights in the territory antedated, and were inalienable by, any action on the part of the supreme council, the league of nations or any body whatsoever, without the consent of the United States.

It was one thing, however, to state an unanswerable case, and another thing to make it prevail, without undertaking to use force, against the fact of Japan's technically sound title and the still more formidable fact of her possession of the disputed island. This was the task that Secretary Hughes had inherited from the previous administration; and he was called upon to carry it through while directing the complicated and delicate procedure of the conference on the limitation of armament. By correspondence and personal interviews with the Japanese ambassador he pressed the negotiations from the time he assumed office, but it was not until December 12 that he was able to announce their successful conclusion.

Considering that Japan had been in possession for two years and a half, and that her position was fortifified by formal sanction of the supreme council and the league of nations, the complete vindication of the American case was a remarkable achievement. It was agreed that this country shall have "free access" to Yap on a footing of "entire equality with Japan or any other nation, in all that relates to the landing of the existing Yap-Guam cable or any cable which may hereafter be laid by the United States or its nationals." This country and American citizens shall have similar rights with respect to radio installations. Rights of residence, property ownership and conduct of enterprise shall be enjoyed in absolute equality, without permit or license, censorship of messages or discriminatory police regulations. Every American contention, in fact, is fully established and safeguarded.

The treaty—which was signed on February 11—goes still further. By it the United States consents to the administration of the north Pacific islands by Japan, but only on precise conditions. First, this country is to have the benefit of the engagements of Japan set forth in the league mandate, the provisions being quoted. Moreover, any modifications in the mandate are to be subject to the consent of the United States, and Japan agrees to furnish this government with duplicates of the annual reports of her administration which she is required to furnish to the league of nations. In other words, the United States has all the rights, privileges and safeguards enjoyed by members of the league, while bearing no responsibility involved in the mandate or in league membership.

To normal minds, indeed, it would seem that in this difficult controversy Secretary Hughes had gained, while maintaining friendship with Japan, a diplomatic triumph of extraordinary scope and value.—Philadelphia North American.

BONUS LEGISLATION.

The soldiers' bonus bill presents a peculiarly knotty problem. If the demand really comes from the rank and file of the American Legion and is not merely raised by the leaders, who wish to remain in office and are under obligation to show a concrete reason for the existence of the organization, the measure will, sooner or later, be passed. The method of pressing for the passage of the bill may not appeal to all men; it may, in their eyes, bear striking resemblance to block legislation; but our national legislators are not likely to oppose the measure if they become convinced that it represents the unified demand of several millions of voters. Our representatives at Washington may feel that it established a dangerous precedent, that it will wreck all plans for a lightening of the burden of the people and that to most of the men it will be a mere sop and not a permanent relief; but, if they act upon their conviction and vote against the measure, they will do so with the full realization that they are making it possible for any demagogue to defeat them at the next election on this dubious issue.

It is essentially unfair to say that opposition to this measure is indicative of an unfriendly sentiment toward the ex-service men. In the long run—and not so long, at that—what is good for the nation is good for the soldiers. They will have to take the good and the bad effects of such legislation together with the rest of their fellow citizens.—Fort Wayne News.

Senator Watson of Georgia, has made another dash into the limelight by announcing the alleged discovery of a law prohibiting a Secretary of the Treasury from engaging in business. He asserts that Mr. Mellon has no legal right to his office, and should resign at once. Mr. Watson's charges are as ridiculous as those he recently made regarding the wanton execution of soldiers in France. Even if there were such a law it would be manifestly unworkable, and has probably been violated by every Secretary of the Treasury who has ever held office. Every man of sufficient prominence to me named to a Cabinet position is technically in business, either actively or through the ownership of stocks, bonds, or other income producing property. Mr. Mellon is no exception.

The National socialist administration was recalled at the general election in November, 1920. The socialistic administration of North Dakota was recalled at a special election in 1921. Mr. McAdoo should be able to read the signs clearly enough to know that the outlook is not good for him and his party in the elections of 1922.

STOCK SHIPPING BODIES LOWER MARKETING COST

Lexington, Ky.—Co-operative marketing as a better and cheaper means of getting livestock to the market could be practiced more extensively in practically all parts of Kentucky, marketing specialists at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station said here recently. Up to the present time, the development in this method of marketing livestock has been slow in the state in spite of the fact that its efficiency has been demonstrated repeatedly, it is said.

During 1920, livestock shipping associations in Iowa saved farmers approximately $3,000,000 on 50,000 carloads of stock, D. G. Card, one of the specialists pointed out in showing the advantages of this method of marketing. The average saving was about 35 cents a hundred pounds on the stock marketed through the associations. The same year, 885 associations in Missouri shipped 2,521 cars at an average saving of $86.30 a carload. During 1921, one Kentucky association saved about $6,000 on 83 carloads shipped while another reduced the local buyer's shipping margin from $1.25 to 75 cents a hundred pounds, Mr. Card said.

Although financial savings are the most important benefits of such associations, other results are of almost equal importance, it is said. Chief among these is the improvement in the class of livestock raised in the community. When farmers ship their own stock to market where it is graded and sold accordingly, they soon learn the value of good stock and strive to improve their own flocks and herds in order to receive better prices, the market men claim. Successful local associations also form an excellent foundation on which to build large cooperative enterprises, it is claimed.

Livestock shipping associations constitute one of the simplest forms of co-operative marketing, the specialists say. Stock is assembled at a shipping point, where one man is held responsible for the receiving, weighing and loading. Each farmer's stock is marked so that all expenses may be pro-rated among the various shippers in proportion to the amount of stock shipped. In this way, each man receives exactly what his animals sold for on the market less the cost of getting them there.

PREST-O-LITE'S
Double Message to Car Owners

Here is a two-fisted battery offer to the owners and drivers of automobiles: Prest-O-Lite's 1922 prices, The Greatest Battery Values:

Prest-O-Plates, the greatest advance in battery making.

Either one singles out Prest-O-Lite from other batteries. Combined they make it a battery value without a rival.

Money-Saving Figures

Prest-O-Lite Batteries represent the greatest value in years. Consider that you can buy a regular Prest-O-Lite Battery for popular makes of light cars for $19.90 (trade-in price).

Here are other outstanding values: $24.50 (trade-in price) for a 6-volt type serving

BUICK MAXWELL CHANDLER
OAKLAND HUDSON ESSEX

12-volt type at $32.30 (trade-in price) that serves

MAXWELL DODGE FRANKLIN

There are similar reductions on every Prest-O-Lite Battery, and Prest-O-Lite builds a correct type of battery for every make of motor car and truck.

Yes, With PREST-O-PLATES

These are not special models. They are top-quality Prest-O-Lites, with the famous Prest-O-Plates.

Prest-O-Plates are as different from ordinary battery plates as gold is from gilt. They combine unusual hardness with a peculiar porosity. None of the old plate compromise between hardness and porosity. Prest-O-Plates have both.

This explains their ready dependable reserve power in biting zero weather, and their non-buckling, heat-resisting strength in summer.

Experts say that they are the world's best battery plate, and this is the same as saying that Prest-O-Lite is the world's best battery.

For the life of a battery is in the plates. You never need a new battery until the plates in your old go bad. As long as you have live plates, you have a battery.

Doubly Guaranteed

And every part of a Prest-O-Lite Battery is worthy, in material and workmanship, of Prest-O-Plates.

That is why 87 leading manufacturers specify Prest-O-Lite as original equipment, and "the list is growing."

Every Prest-O-Lite is backed by the regular Prest-O-Lite warranty, a definite obligation, plus a spirit that says the car owner must be pleased.

Use PREST-O-LITE Service

It is our business, as part of Prest-O-Lite Service, the oldest organized service to motorists, to carry out this spirit; and to see that you get every bit of life out of a Prest-O-Lite Battery.

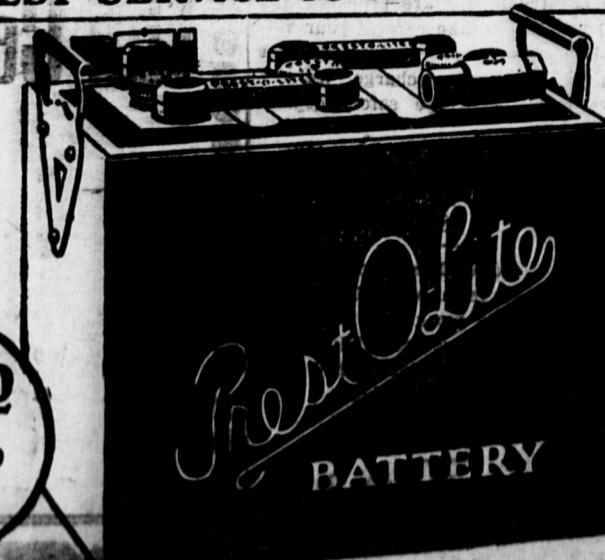

But, no matter what battery you have, use our Service Station. You will find our experts ready to help you prolong the life of your battery. No one here will tell you that you need a new battery until you do. Come around today.

GEORGE E. MOTCH HEADS LIST IN WINCHESTER POSTMASTER TEST

Washington, March 21. — Results of the civil service examination for the postmastership at Winchester, Ky., were obtained Monday although they have not been announced publicly.

George E. Motch heads the list, with John W. Board second and Mrs. Lillian C. Duty third. About a dozen applicants took the examination. Among those who failed to qualify as one of the high three was Mr. Bush, chairman of the Republican county committee, who is understood here to have been the choice of the local Republican organization for the position.

Mr. Motch is well known in Maysville being a brother-in-law of Mrs. James H. Hall, of East Second street.

FINED HEAVILY IN CITY COURT.

WORN OUT AFTER SHE COOKED A MEAL

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Read the Result

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I suffered for a year with nervous troubles and irregularities before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back pained all the time and I was unfit for housework. I was worn out if I cooked a meal, and was unable to do my washing. My girl friends and neighbors told me if I would take your Vegetable Compound I would be relieved. After taking the first bottle I felt better, and neglected it awhile, but found I could not do my work until I was stronger. So I took the Vegetable Compound again and now I am the mother of a 19 month old boy. He is fat and healthy and I am sure I could never have carried him if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound. I recommend your medicine to all women although I am young to be advising some one older." — Mrs. CHRISTIE MCKEE, 318 W. Liberty St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains no harmful drugs and can be taken in safety by any woman.

DEAD MAN WINS DECISION IN JAMAICA GINGER CASE.

Marion, Ohio, March 20.—A dead man won a decision over the state of Ohio today when the Court of Appeals here reversed the Mayor's Court and remanded for rehearing the case of J. W. Palmer.

On December 18, 1920, Mayor T. E. Andrews fined Palmer $1,000 and costs on a charge of selling Jamaica ginger as a beverage. After this decision had been affirmed by Judge Grant E. Mouser of the Common Pleas Court Palmer carried the case to the Appellate Court.

The Court of Appeals in its decision today holds that there was no evidence to prove that the liquor in the controversy was fit for beverage purposes.

Although Palmer died several months ago, City Solicitor George T. Geran announced he would carry the case to the State Supreme Court as a test case.
